Prayers for the Dead during the Month of November

During the Month of November, we remember especially in our prayers and during the celebration of Mass our loved ones who have already gone before us.

“Your endurance will win you your lives.”

Just over a year ago, twenty-seven migrants died trying to cross the English Channel and reach the shores of Kent to start a new life. This small group, together in a flimsy inflatable boat, exploited by people smugglers, tragically lost their lives. We don't know why they travelled; some may have been economic migrants, others fleeing from persecution, some Christians; we will never know the full story of each person, but some stories have emerged. Of the twenty-seven people, seventeen were men, six women, three children and one child still in the womb. The first victim identified was called Maryam, the Aramaic name for Miriam, or Mary. The tragedy became more poignant when we saw their families interviewed on the television. Such is the power of modern communications to bring us into the homes of suffering people.

Whilst the rhetoric between Britain and France increased after this event, we remember in our prayers each of those unique men and women created by God as God's gift. Each one had a name, a family, people who loved them and whom they loved. Since last November, the small boats have continued to cross the Channel and people are driven in the backs of lorries across Europe. The continuing dramatic effects of climate change bring about further desertification of land; conflict and war bring more poverty; the hope of migration to a rich country continues to invite. We are reminded of the symbolic significance of Pope Francis' first pastoral visit to the refugees on the island of Lampedusa.

During this year we have heard St Luke's Gospel proclaimed each Sunday. St Luke presents some of the most graphic parables about those in need, which develop the theme of the Beatitudes, beginning, “How happy are you who are poor: yours is the kingdom of God.” He tells us that it is those who are poor, those who are hungry, those who weep and those who are persecuted who will be blessed. To shake stubborn hearts from their complacency, he cries, “But alas for you who are rich... who have your fill now... who laugh now... Alas for you when the world speaks well of you.” St Luke invites us to open our hearts and reach out to those in need, exemplified nowhere more graphically than in the contrast of the fate of the rich man and Lazarus.

In this context, in his message for the World Day of the Poor 2021 Pope Francis recalled words of St John Chrysostom: “The merciful are like a harbour for those in need: the harbour welcomes and frees from danger all those who are shipwrecked; whether they are evildoers, good persons, or whatever they may be, the harbour shelters them within its inlet. You, too, therefore, when you see on land a man or a woman who has suffered the shipwreck of poverty, do not judge, do not ask for an account of their conduct, but deliver them from their misfortune.”

Migration, housing and the provision of accommodation, food, services, and the processing of asylum applications are highly contentious and hotly debated political matters. Yet each person is a child of God and a brother or sister of the whole human family. We create the barriers that define others and are invited to go beyond them in our love of neighbour. To stand up and be counted, whether for this cause, or the cause of unborn children or elderly or disabled people, will bring trouble and criticism. Jesus tells us to stand firm because the Holy Spirit will give us eloquence and wisdom that will be truthful and just. We can place our hope in the words, “Your endurance will win you your lives.”

Moving into the Future

Thank you to all who completed questionnaires and gave us your suggestions as we seek to move forward as a Parish. We seem to be gradually getting back to some resemblance of normality. To help with this, if there is something that was taking place before COVID, that you would like to see taking place again, could you please let us know in plenty of time so we can plan these. Furthermore we will aim, wherever possible, to organise events across the wider parish, being open to as many people as possible, as all parishioners in this parish are of equal importance, with no church community being more important or less important than any other. Thank you for your understanding and together we can make a difference.

In doing this we support those who are still fearful, are being cautious and also recognises that some of our parishioners have not been vaccinated. You will appreciate we are keen to ensure that our Church is a place where people feel safe to gather for worship. Thank you for your ongoing support and for your selflessness with this matter.
